Budget number	11448. IQ
Location	Kurdistan region, Iraq
Starting date	21.09. 2025
VNG International:	VNG International is the International Cooperation Agency of the Association of Netherlands Municipalities (VNG). VNG represents all 342 Dutch municipalities and has over 100 years of experience in facilitating local-to-local dialogue and cooperation for its members, providing them with technical expertise and advocating on their behalf towards other levels of government and stakeholders. In 1993, VNG established VNG International, aiming to strengthen democratic local government worldwide. Being part of VNG, one of the oldest and strongest local government associations in the world, our roots in local government are deep it is second nature for us to work at both the technical and political level of local government. Development partners work with us because we combine practical expertise, knowledge of the needs of local governments and excellent project implementation. VNG International supports decentralization processes and decentralized cooperation. Through our 60+ projects we provide capacity building services to local governments, their associations, training institutes and ministries working in the field of decentralization and local government. VNG International has had an established presence in Iraq since 2003. It has since established an excellent network of local experts in the fields of public sector improvement, basic services public participation, local economic development, public finance management and spatial planning. VNG International in Iraq has implemented projects in Ninevah, Erbil, Duhok and Halabja governorates. VNG International has an office in Duhok which is supervised by our country representative and which has 5 permanent staff. We also have an office in Baghdad. Through these offices we maintain relations to all (sub)national ministries, local governments, NGOs and key stakeholders in our projects.
Description of Assignment:	The assignment will be part of the larger five-year umbrella programme in 14 countries between VNG International and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs: "Sustainable Development through Improved Local Governance" (SDLG) programme. The intervention in Iraq/KR focuses on migration and aims to improve responsiveness by Iraqi and KRI subnational governments and local service provision departments to host and displaced communities (IDPs, returnees, refugees). Local governments are the first in line to be confronted by repercussions such as pressure on municipal services, competition for employment, corroding social cohesion and mental health, accelerated urbanization and formation of slums, and inflation in the housing market. In recent years displacement has increased in scale, durationand complexity. The SDLG program in Iraq and KRI, running from 1 January 2022 until 31 December 2026 intends to achieve four outcomes: Increase of mandate of local authorities/municipalities with the aim to increase their responsiveness to changing circumstances
	 Increase of the capacity of service delivering departments and entities to deliver service and shaping futures of their citizens Increasing leadership qualities and skills of municipal leaders

• Increasing the engagement of citizens and their organizations i.e. their possibilities to participate effectively in decision making at the local level.

Background

The ongoing refugee crisis has evolved into an urban challenge. Many refugee camps in the Kurdistan Region of Iraq (KRI) have taken on permanent characteristics—marked by poor living conditions, overcrowding, inadequate sanitation and water supply, and limited access to essential services. As emergency response operations scale down, the UNHCR is transitioning the management and responsibility of refugee camps to local governments in line with its Alternatives to Camps policy, which promotes refugee self-reliance and integration into host communities.

This transition aligns with the Camp-Transformation approach, developed jointly by UNHCR and VNG International, which promotes inclusive governance and resilience in displacement-affected areas. The success of this approach in Duhok requires strong leadership, legal reform, effective governance mechanisms, and enhanced cooperation among stakeholders at the local, regional, and national levels.

Challenges to the transformation include:

- Absence of legal frameworks to empower local authorities.
- Limited capacity within municipal institutions.
- Lack of a clear timetable for the service transfer.
- Insufficient engagement between stakeholders (e.g., UNHCR, KRG, JCC, municipalities).
- Public awareness and refugee inclusion in planning.

The Steering Committee for Camp Transformation (established in 2024 and chaired by the Vice Governor of Duhok) has served as a crucial interim body for coordinating this transition. However, the committee lacks the formal authority to make decisions or represent regional interests at the Kurdistan Regional Government (KRG) level.

Legal and institutional reform is urgently needed to:

- Enable local governments to manage refugee services sustainably.
- Lobby for decentralized governance frameworks.
- Advocate for refugees' access to the labor market.
- Empower local government to generate revenue through service levies and taxes.
- Recognize local authorities as central actors in migration governance.

2. Purpose andObjectives

Overall Goal
